

Family winery founded in 1952 and managed today by the Sabon family and winemaker Didier Negrón, a traditionalist who favours ageing in large oak barrels for 6 months after a long time in vats. Elegance prevails over strength in the wines, which means that they might not show their full potential in the early years; however, they gain depth and complexity over time and are currently considered among the best Châteauneufs in the market.

Most of the Châteauneuf-du-Pape vineyards are located in the northeast area, with sandy and chalky soil. The winery also has vineyards in Le Crau, known for its clay soil under a thick layer of Alpine galets. With vineyards on both sides of the Rhône pertaining to different appellations, this winery produces a large diversity of wines. Although most...
