

Without a doubt, Barolo is one of the most interesting wine regions of Italy mostly due to its rugged topography, diverse soils and its highly personalized winemaking tradition. For these reasons, parallels with Burgundy are often drawn. In very broad terms, the appellation is divided into three zones which follow river valleys, with those wines from the village of Serralunga in the southeast being the most powerful, long-lived & full-bodied. It is precisely for this reason that we are so proud to introduce the wines of Paolo Manzone to the Spanish market. Besides the obvious quality of their wines, this producer also provides Mundidrink with a more complete vision of the Barolo appellation. The Cru Meriame estate of Serralunga has belonged to the Luisella family for generations...

Properties: 12 hectares of vineyards in the hills surrounding Alba, including parcels in DO Roero, DO Nebbiolo d'Alba and Barolo. The estate is located in Serralunga d'Alba, in the heart of the Barolo district.

Production: 85,000 bottles annually

Paolo Manzone Roero Arneis Reysù 100% Arneis

---

Paolo Manzone Barolo Serralunga d'Alba 100% Nebbiolo

---

Paolo Manzone Barolo Meriame 100% Nebbiolo

---

Paolo Manzone Barolo Riserva 100% Nebbiolo

---

